

12 IN RE CTF GP PRISONER LITIGATION

13 Case No. 19-CV-01974-LHK

14 ORDER REOPENING CASE; ORDER
15 TO SHOW CAUSE WHY TEMPORARY
16 RESTRAINING ORDER SHOULD NOT
17 ISSUE

18 Multiple plaintiffs in this District filed civil rights complaints under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 that 19 raised substantially the same issues and that were related in the instant action. Dkt. No. 8. In sum,
20 plaintiffs claimed that defendants planned to “merge” sensitive-needs and general-population
21 prisoners into “non-designated yards,” and that merger would result in physical harm to plaintiffs.
22 See generally, id. The Court dismissed some related actions, consolidated the actions filed by 23 three plaintiffs (“Plaintiffs”), and directed defendants to respond to the claims. Dkt. No. 21.

24 Defendants requested two extensions of time to file a dispositive motion. See Dkt. Nos.
25 29, 45. In the second of these requests, defendants asked for an extension of time until July 28,
26 2020, and represented to the Court that “Plaintiffs, . . . will not need to seek any relief from this
27 Court during this extension as they are not currently scheduled to be moved or transferred to a

1 NDPF.” Dkt. No. 45 at 3. Defense counsel repeated this statement under penalty of perjury. See
 2 Dkt. No. 45-1 ¶ 15. The Court granted defendants’ requests, see Dkt. No. 46, and on June 25,
 3 2020 granted Plaintiffs’ request for counsel and stayed the instant action until such time as counsel
 4 could be located, see Dkt. No. 48.

5 On July 15, 2020, squarely within the period of time during which defendants had
 6 represented plaintiffs would not be “moved or transferred to” a non-designated yard, Plaintiff
 7 Villagrana asked the Court to issue a temporary restraining order (“TRO”). See Dkt. No. 51 & Ex.
 8 A (request, with proof of service signed and dated on July 15, 2020); see also Douglas v. Noelle,
 9 567 F.3d 1103, 1109 (9th Cir. 2009) (applying the mailbox rule to prisoner’s § 1983 complaint)
 10 (relying on Houston v. Lack, 487 U.S. 266 (1988)). Plaintiff Villagrana explained that this TRO
 11 was necessary because, in direct contradiction of defense counsel’s representation, defendants
 12 planned to transfer Plaintiff Villagrana to a “non-designated yard.” See Dkt. No. 51 at 2. Plaintiff
 13 attached a “chrono” of a Classification Committee meeting held on July 1, 2020 – again, squarely
 14 within the period of time in which defense counsel represented Plaintiffs would not be transferred
 15 – in which the Classification Committee “recommend[ed] to . . . transfer Villagrana” to another
 16 facility, and noted that this may be a “non-designated” facility. Dkt. No. 51, Ex. B.

17 Despite having previously represented to the Court that Plaintiffs were not being 18 considered for transfer, defense counsel filed a statement that “Defendants do not intend to 19 respond to Villagrana’s application unless ordered otherwise by this Court.” Dkt. No. 52.

20 The Court reopens this action. Within seven (7) days, defendants shall show cause why a
 21 TRO should not issue which prevents Plaintiffs’ transfer to a non-designated yard. Defense
 22 counsel is reminded of her ethical obligations and the authority of this Court. See Fed. R. Civ. P.
 23 11(b) (concerning attorney’s representations), (c) (discussing sanctions for misrepresentations).

24 IT IS SO ORDERED.
